up short and told him that when money was paid him for armory rent, it was for rent and for no other purpose. He explained that they had agreed to refund it out of their pay, and I told him that in-asmuch as there was no criminal intent I would let it pass, but I showed him the statute, and told him that upon any further irregularity he would go behind the bars. I gave him a check for the payment of the company, and I understand he paid them all but three, but kept for himself the amount due to the company's tregsury for fines and forfeitures, the sum of $70.85.

"Did you not order him under arrest?" was asked.
"No; we did not know where to reach him. Then this woman came and offered to pay the money back. I made no promises about what I would do after the 1st of January, but I thought it was better to get the money back for those men than to have him arrested and not get any of it." Stevenson has been for years a notorious negro and has been supported by this Elli-ott woman. It is claimed that it was he who stored a lot of colored men up in the vinegar factory at the last city election and kept them from voting the Republican ticket. He has always been used by the Democrats in their efforts to handle the colored vote, and it is supposed that this had much to do with the leniency with which he has been treated, though Adjutant-general Robbins yesterday de-clared that he knew nothing about his polities. He was appointed a member of the police force immediately after Mayor Tag-gart's administration began, but his record, ventilated by the newspapers, was so rank that they had to dismiss him.

The W. N. Jackson Portrait. The portrait of W. N. Jackson, by Otto Stark, now on exhibit at Herman's art rooms on Pennsylvania street, is attracting unusual attention. In speaking of it another well-known artist of the city says: an artist to be found in our city. To say that Mr. Stark had done justice to his sitter would be meager praise. He has not only painted a fine likeness, but has also brought out the individuality of the man, which makes the picture valuable as a memento of one of the distinct characters of our city. Mr. Stark has in this portrait reached the highest mark yet attained by him in this most difficult branch of art—a branch for which he is peculiarly fitted, as this portrait fully reveals. It is, indeed, a happy effort, in which the superior skill of the artist in drawing and colors is finely exemplified. The expression of the eye, the firm, yet sympathetic mouth the likeness, but has also brought out the individualand colors is linely exemplified. The expression of the eye, the firm, yet sympathetic mouth, the nose, the thoughtful brow—all are caught and rendered with a touch which shows the artist's deep appreciation of the essential in portraiture."

The picture belongs to the Jackson Memorial Association, which commissioned the artist to paint it. It will remain on exhibition for some the Grip. The many political parades have caused many people to suffer from a bad cold; others have the grip, while most of the lookers-on have malaria. A prominent physician was asked for his opinion as to he best medicine to cure the above troubles, and replied that, although quinine was the popular family remedy, many persens could avoid malaria and even typhoid fever by taking the proper medicine in For this reason it was very essential that persons should know the symptoms of malaria. The best-known symptoms of malaria in its frequent mild form are coated tongue, bad taste, loss of appetite. constipated or irregular bowels, headache or some form of neuralgia, pains in the chest, back, joints or limbs, soreness of the flesh, watery discharges from the nose and eyes, sleepiness or drowsiness by day and unrefreshing sieep at night. These first symptoms of malaria, unless cured, will deselop into malaria or typhoid fever. The shysician said that for a quick cure it was ery important to get the liver active bere trying to break the cold or fever, for his reason he always gave Haag's Liver Pills in connection with Haag's Cold and Fever Capsules, and by their use could cure a bad cold in a day and at the same time prevent malarial or typho d fever. The doctor said that he gave a grown person two Cold and Fever Capsules every three hours and three to four at bed time; that he always gave a dose of Haag's Liver ing Raymond Taylor, aged ten, 22 Wiscon-Pills in connection with the capsules. Of these he usually gave two at bed time for 429 South Illinois street, and Walter Thomp-

FELL DOWN IN NUMBERS

POPOCRAT PARADE SMALLER THAN NATIONAL DEMOCRATS' AFFAIR.

Star Demonstration of Their Campaign a Failure-The Address of George Fred Williams.

The saddest sight of the campaign was the extensively advertised Popocratic demonstration last night. There have been three demonstrations the last week, first the sound-money Democracy on Monday evening in escorting Dr. Everett, of Massachusetts, second, the huge railroad demonstration Thursday night and the last one the Popocratic affair last night. In size and enthusiasm the railroad boys' soundmoney demonstration came under the wire first by about ten lengths, the sound-money Democrats' parade came along second and the Popocratic horse last night seems to have been left at the post. The railroad men had 12,000 men in line, the sound-money Democrats turned out 1,667 men by actual count, while the Popocrats had exactly 1.546 by one tally of the marchers. After having the event advertised under big display headlines in the Sentinel-type half an SHORTAGE OF A CAPTAIN SUP- inch tall-during the last week, together with active work on the part of the county committee, it was extremely galling to the Bryan managers to see the parade last night fall below that of the despised soundmoney Democrats, who were able with but little advertising to turn out more men.

There were perhaps sixty people counting the marchers last night, and the most enthusiastic Bryanite didn't claim more than 1,800 in line. One man who counted the A beautiful scandal has developed in the marchers in the parade made the number this, with the several delays, did not hold the parade longer than twenty-nine min-A few days ago a negress named Nan utes passing a given point. Elliott, keeper of a resort that the police had closed at one time a year or two ago, sent word to the Adjutant-general that if Stevenson would be permitted to return without fear of prosecution she would make good the loss, paying a part now and the rest before Christmas. Adjutant-general Robbins declared that he parade. The hall was not reserved at all and the scheme did not seem to work very

"The first irregularity I noticed." the "first edition" had ever done. The to pay Armory rent, and it was used to slim turnout to do him honor and to inpay for their mess at camp. I hauled him crease the enthusiasm for the cause he represents makes the case look weak for the Popocratic ticket. It made it lock so weak that last night the speculation as to the size of McKinley's piurality in Marion county ran wild. Instead of 4,000 or 5,000, as has generally been considered a reasona-ble figure, sound-money men are now confident that it will run as high as 7,000. Withal, the coming of Mr. Williams is taken as a good test of the strength of his cause. It would perhaps be better expressed to say that it is expressive of the weakness of the cause, for never before did the most sanguine of the McKinley and sound-money supporters so fully appreciate the weakness of the Popocratic sentiment in Marion county as they did last nightnot that there was any lack of enthusiasm among the numer of Popucrats who crowded into Tomiinson Hail to hear the eloquen Bostonian. A Popocrat is nothing if not enthusiastic. They made a good showing in the hail, and, as far as Mr. Williams knows, gave the visitor a warm welcome. Mr. Williams is an eloquent talker. When he entered Tominson Hall and took a seat upon the stage he faced a large crowd. The people had begun to gather long before the parade was over and had filled up the front part of the house before the organized marchers arrived. there was plenty of room for all, with a little crowding in the front part. hundred or more people stood, but there were no crowds at the door anxious but unable to get in, and there were turned away from the doors. While the hall was filling there was the noisest dem onstration imaginable. Every Popocrathad a tin born and every Populist, accustomed to addressing crowds on street corners, had his voice in good order, and they vied with one another to see which could make the most confusion. Then, occasionally a drum corps or a band would come in, and the sound of the beating of drums would mingle with the din of tin horns and the rasping vocal noises made by men who were willing to sacrifice their voices to show their idolatry to the "Bryan of East" and the "Bryan of the West. were no policemen in the hall, and the few fights which occurred had to be adjusted

John Rochford, chairman of the Popocratic county committee, called the meeting to order at 9:20, less than an hour and a half from the time the parade left its her, a former Republican, who presided over the meeting. Mr. Kelleher explained to the people that he had no apology to make for leaving the Republican party and time yet and no one who knows the subject then proceeded to make an apology. Mr should fail to see it. Kelleher told them how he had been a delegate to the Republican State convention and how he had voted for "Uncle Dick" renown as a variety actor, died at his home on North Illinois street yesterday of consumption. He introduced Mr. Williams as one of the greatest of political gladiators—"the man from Boston." Three cheers were given as Mr. Williams rose and Mr. Williams made a good Popocratic speech. He talks like a lawyer arguing a death. The Dispensary physicians saved case, and one could not help thinking, as he talked, of the fact that lawyers are sometimes retained upon the side of the case with which they have no sympathy. He insisted that conditions were all wrong and that the Popocratic party was called but he admitted that it would be by revolution, referring to a revolution of sentiment Later he spent fifteen minutes trying to show that the Chicago platform was not revolutionary. The Popocrats, he said, indorse a declaration of principles, second only to the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States. He declared that it was the purpose of the people to take back into their own hands and control the government which they platform, explaining each of the so severe He then "roasted" the sound-money Democrats, but when there was a demand for him to specify names, unlike the "Bryan of the West," he refused to do so, saying that he had made the hat, the audience

UNWILLING TO GIVE FIGURES AS TO STATES BRYAN WILL CARRY.

> He Does Not Believe the Free-Silver Agitation Will End with the Election. Senator Henry M. Teller, of Colorado, is in Indianapolis. He and Mrs. Teller arrived yesterday morning and at once went to the home of Col. Nicholas R. Ruckle.

Senator Teller and Mrs. Ruckle are cousins. The Senator will go to Richmond, Ind., tomorrow, where he is to speak in the evening. Saturday he will speak in Crawfords-ville. During the week he will make two other addresses in this State. Senator Tel- ter. ler has made speeches under the direction Brown, of Sutherland street, and who has against Julius Schleuter to recover posses- of the Popocratic committee in Michigan, last night at the home of Colonel Ruckle

> "What do you think will be the outcome of the campaign?" the reporter inquired. "I hope that Bryan will be elected." "What do you note as to the trend of public sentiment?" "I have found a great deal of silver sentiment in the States in which I have spoken. There are many Republicans who do not believe in the gold standard who will vote for McKiniey, hoping that he will be able to secure legislation in accordance with their belief."

"What figure do you think the Palmer-Buckner ticket will cut?"

"I think the Palmer ticket will cut no figure worth mentioning. I do not believe that it will receive enough votes to count. The gold Democrats will vote for McKinley. I believe that the managers who secured the nomination of the Palmer-Buckner ticket will vote for McKinley."

The Senator says that while the people are taking great interest in the campaign, the financial question has not been sufficiently well discussed for them to understand it thoroughly. He says that simple as the question is, the ignorance displayed in regard to it is deplorable. Astounding statements, he says, are made by speakers who do not seem to have any regard for their reputations. Senator Teller asserts that he has never seen more interest taken in a campaign than is being displayed this year since the campaign of 1859. Most of his work has been done in Republican States, and everywhere he has found much interest taken. He says that it is a difficult matter for any man to form an accurate idea of the situation while going about making speeches, as he finds both sides claiming that the battle is already won. The Senator was unwilling to give figures as to what particular States Bryan will carry, saying that he had never made detailed estimates in any campaign.

He seems fairly sanguine as to resuits however. "I do not believe that the agitation will end with the election," said he. "If Bryan is elected the gold men will attempt to de feat legislation. They have a great stake to play for. If McKinley is elected the peowill not accept the gold standard with out protesting." Senator Teller says that he is enjoying good health, although he has found the de-mands made on him rather trying to his voice. He looks well, but does not resem-ble the pictures of him published in the papers. In some respects he reminds one of the late Governor Gray, of this State. He has a rather thin frame, and his lack of avoirdupois is further heightened by a black Prince Albert coat. While his features are not so large as those of the late Governor of Indiana, his beard and the deep lines of his face recall the latter to a marked degree.

Senator Teiler will learn to-day where his two other addresses are to be made in this State. That matter is being arranged by the State and national committees.
